

Chefsville-Kids: Great Native American Indians

(Assembly and Classroom Programs)

On-Campus

Time: 9am - 2:15pm, evenings for PTA/PTO orgs

Grades: K – 5

Community/Family, Talented/Gifted, Special Ed, Bilingual

Description

Food is a fantastic vehicle to provide an exciting learning adventure that will captivate students as they are the “STARS” in this workshop. Students expand their discovery of the incredible world of cooking, health and nutrition through this workshop while they practically apply social studies into their daily lives. 1st Class Kids has chef educators who love telling about the Great Indians who are the real Native Americans. Texas history is loaded with stories about the impacts of the great tribes, Caddo, Comanche, Cherokee, and others. Therefore any of the desired TEKS can come to life through these cooking venues. Prior to any session or group of sessions, chef educators and classroom teachers may collaborate to insure that program meets classroom TEKS. Students will be working with ingredients, equipment and age appropriate culinary techniques. Discussions, worksheets and activities that use current social studies TEKS will allow students to make sense of their world by learning the rich history involving the Native American Indian tribes that impacted Texas and the US. Kids will shine as they focus on history, geography, economics, governmental, cultural, citizenship objectives using critical thinking, problem solving, relationship building and technology to develop conclusions through learning about the Great Native American Indians. This program brings real world connection to Social Studies and culinary arts.

Students will

- learn about geography seeing where different tribes lived
- gain an understanding of native american cultural diversity
- learn about tribal historical figures that shaped Texas and the nation
- learn about tribal relationships with European settlers
- discover the beautiful arts and crafts traded
- cooking demo and tasting of an American Indian dish
