Grades: K – 5

Description

Classroom programs are scaled down versions of our assembly programs under the same name. This allows teacher suggested topics/units to be covered in more detailed. This program focuses on the great inventors who have been credited for changing the western world, its government, economy, and culture. The need for food and resources is a fantastic vehicle to provide an exciting learning adventure that will captivate students as they are the “STARS” in this workshop. Students expand their discovery of the incredible world of cooking, health and nutrition through this workshop while they practically apply social studies into their daily lives. Inventors such as Thomas Edison, Henry Ford, Gail Borden, Joseph Glidden, Michael DeBakey, Eli Whitley and Millie Highes-Fulford helped propel the state of Texas and our nation to where it is today. The Inventors will thrill students as they discover American economy and history. They will learn about changes in natural resources, distribution and manufacture of products and services.

Students will

- Learn about great western inventors
- See how Texas and the US was changed as a result of innovation and creative thinking
- Discover what needs and wants are
- Evaluate necessary changes that the inventors found
- Engage invention through math, social studies, science, and language arts
- Taste and be part of a cooking demonstration of an inventor’s favorite dish
